

Soda Bottle Bowling

Plastic bottles present a huge problem for the future of our environment, they are typically made for a single use and without our help will take hundreds of years to decompose. At this time only a fraction of bottles are recycled. We can help by only using plastic bottles when absolutely necessary, when we do we should carefully rinse them out and place in recycling.

What you will need:

- Nine plastic bottles (We used two liter bottles but you could use something smaller)
- An inflatable plastic ball (We found an 8 inch ball worked well)

What to do:

- Find a nice open and flat space. Divide players into two teams.
- Set up your bottles in the classic triangle shape, you may find you need some trial and error to find the best placement.
- Begin your bowling tournament.

Bonus challenge: You may find the empty bottles are falling over a little too easily, try filling them with some sand or water to make the game a little harder.
